✖ AUGUSTA, Ga. – Club Car President and CEO Marc Dufour presented a check for $10,000 to the Folds of Honor Foundation on Friday, March 20. The organization sponsors scholarships for dependents of veterans who were disabled or killed in service to our nation.

The check was presented at Club Car's corporate offices in Augusta, Georgia, after a moving presentation by Allen Wronowski, who accepted the check on behalf of the foundation. Wronowski is honorary president of the PGA of America and director of golf development and relations for the Folds of Honor.

Of the more than 1 million dependents adversely affected by deployments to Iraq and Afghanistan, nearly nine out of 10 do not qualify for federal scholarship assistance. Folds of Honor and its partners help meet their needs by providing higher education tuition assistance for spouses and children and supporting private education tuition, tutoring and educational summer camps for children K-12.

Members of Club Car's Veterans Employee Resource Group (VERG) also attended the ceremony and a luncheon that followed. VERG is comprised of Club Car employees who donate time to help veterans, active military members and their families through networking, special events and welcoming and onboarding veterans into the Club Car family.

The Club Car VERG chapter is currently in the planning phase to create an annual event that will provide a perpetual source of support to the Folds of Honor Foundation. "We are excited about this unique opportunity to give to the families of those who have in some cases given their all for their country," said Kurt Wilson, chairman of the Club Car VERG chapter.

As a Folds of Honor partner, Club Car will also support the foundation's Patriot Golf Day campaign. Sponsored by the PGA and the United States Golf Association, the fundraising event is centered around Labor Day weekend, though special events take place throughout the year. Patriot Golf Day asks golfers across the country to donate to the Folds of Honor mission as they participate in the game they love. In 2014, more than 5,000 golf courses took part and more than $5 million was raised. Over the last eight years, the event has help fund more than 7,500 scholarships in all 50 states.
