

Foley Power Systems Promotes Two

Source: www.TurfMagazine.com

PISCATAWAY, N.J. – Foley, Inc., has promoted Ron Lisoski to product support sales manager and James Marsh to rental manager for the Power Systems Division of Foley, Inc.

✖ Lisoski started his Foley career in December of 2005 as an inside product support sales representative (PSSR) for the Power Systems Division. In less than a year, he was promoted to an outside PSSR, calling on a select group of customers within Foley's territory. In early 2012, Lisoski was promoted to Prime Power and Commercial Marine PSSR, working to support customers with marine engines.

In his new role he will be responsible for the growth of the Power Systems Product Support business, managing the Power Systems PSSR team he has been a part of since he came to Foley. Lisoski is a Caterpillar Certified Electric Power Sales Manager and Product Support Manager, having completed the rigorous training set by Caterpillar to obtain the title.

✖ Marsh began his career at Foley in February of 2012 as the operations manager for the Power Systems Division with 25 years of equipment rental experience under his belt. While in that role, he was responsible for the day-to-day operations of the department, including equipment inventory and managing the repair and maintenance of the rental fleet.

In his new role, Marsh will oversee both the commercial and the operations side of the business with all Power Systems rental account managers reporting to him, as well as the rental coordinator and rental technician.