

IrriGreen, Inc. Announces Three New Board Members

Source: www.TurfMagazine.com

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. – IrriGreen, Inc., developer and manufacturer of the IrriGreen GeniusIrrigation System, announced that three business executives have joined its board of directors. The three new board members are Jack Judd, Carl Hung and Andy Vander Woude.

Judd is chief financial officer of Proto Labs, Inc. Judd previously served as CFO for both Compellent Technologies and ATS Medical, Inc. He has an M.B.A. and a bachelor's degree in accounting, both from St. Thomas University, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Hung is president and chief operating officer of Season Group International Co., Ltd. A certified Six Sigma Black Belt, he has an M.B.A. from the Richard Ivey School of Business, University of Western Ontario. He graduated from the University of British Columbia with a bachelor's degree in finance.

A technology executive and entrepreneur in Los Angeles, California, Woude was the co-founder and chief executive officer of VAST Enterprises, Inc. (Minneapolis, Minnesota). Before founding VAST in 2006, Woude was a business unit manager at Fargo Electronics. He has a Master of Science in management from the Carlson School of Management, University of Minnesota. He earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering at the University of South Dakota.