MCP Supply, a supplier of the 10-inch Edgetite spike, has redesigned its website, www.mcpsupply.com, to provide customers with news and information about the company, videos and illustrations showing how to install the paver edging spikes, online ordering and order tracking, guest checkout, the option to create an account, several methods to contact the company and more.

The new website helps customers navigate more easily, including quick links to visit the company's social media sites like Facebook and Twitter.

Located in south central Pennsylvania, MCP Supply currently has distribution hubs located in South Carolina, Illinois and at its headquarters in Lewisberry, Pennsylvania.
