MADISON HEIGHTS, Mich. – TrynEx International, manufacturer of SnowEx, TurfEx and SweepEx product lines, celebrated its 15-year anniversary on March 2, 2012.

Established in 1997, TrynEx was formed from a small lawn care and snow removal company. Using field experience to develop unique products, TrynEx began by manufacturing a limited line of spreaders and broom attachments. Through innovation, the company has grown dramatically to become an industry leader, offering a diverse line of professional-duty products aimed at boosting efficiency and reliability.

TrynEx is known for multiple breakthroughs during its 15 years in business. These include offering the first spreader with a roto-molded polyethylene hopper, developing the first pivot mount swing-away spreader and engineering the first auger feed system for spreaders. TrynEx continues to invest in the industry through research and development aimed at customer satisfaction.

"We've worked hard to become the company we are today," says Founder Chuck Truan. "But the most exciting part of our anniversary is looking ahead to the innovations we have planned for the next 15 years."
